174 contributions to the Nelson Report over 10 years written by me and highlighted in yellow.

["a&b" appended to the date means that I make separate unrelated comments in two different parts of the Report.

"Combined" means that two or more Nelson Reports in a month when my comments are related to each other have been placed into a single file to indicate that relationship and for convenient reference.

A single "a" appended to the date means the same Report sent out but containing a material improvement I made over what I provided in the earlier version of the Report sent out earlier that day.]
